

Media Mail Solutions Displays Patented CD and DVD Mailers at DMA-07 Conference & Exhibition in Chicago

Postal-friendly MediaSAFE Disc Mailers are branding-friendly too

CHICAGO -- October 12, 2007-- Media Mail Solutions' innovative MediaSAFE Disc Mailer offers companies the ability to safely ship CDs and DVDs at less expensive letter automation postal rates.

By getting rid of bulky boxes and puffy envelopes, the flat mailers are able to go through automated postal equipment around the world. The mailers also give companies plenty of space to add creative designs and messaging to go along with their media.

"These mailers went through rigorous testing by the Australia Post," said Allan Morton, the engineer who developed the patented MediaSAFE Mailer. "Because of the design, there is no need for jewel cases or clam shells, and companies qualify for lower USPS rates. Our customers save money on packaging and postage."

MediaSAFE Disc Mailers will be on display in booth 2110 at the DMA-07 Conference & Exhibition in Chicago from October 13-18. Media interviews with Allan Morton can be arranged by stopping by the booth or calling Janice Roetenberg at 720-875-2260.

About Media Mail Solutions

Media Mail Solutions, a Colorado-based company, offers customized CD and DVD mailing solutions for companies around the world. Media Mail Solutions' patented MediaSAFE Disc Mailers are designed to go through automated postal equipment, saving time and money for its clients. For more information, visit www.mediamailsolutions.com.